Job description:

Masons (apprentice, traineeship) for “face bricks”= “facade”

Due to the very wide experience (good but also less good) it was decided to set up our own training institute, as after all it turned out and proved that the norms and values and quality and quantity/ productivity in West Europe go to a different level as for example in Central, Eastern and Southern Europe, hence these sometimes specific subject-related knowledge and skills and “tips & tricks” from Western Europe are more demanding than elsewhere.

A phenomenon that we specifically want to name is the masonry / brick masonry / façade masonry as in some countries in Western Europe it's quite nuance, but something that in most (other) countries is totally not nuance, on the contrary.

It then becomes difficult and almost impossible to recruit skilled craftsmen elsewhere.

Because of this conclusion “the first stone has been laid” and “the foundation has been established” of our schooling / training, after all there is already a shortage of specific professionals, and it will become more and more and probably even in the short term.

VANACO BV responds to this and educates practitioners to become acceptable and productive professionals who, under somewhat less intensive supervision, are functioning well, specifically for those countries where this discipline is very common.

This implicates a steady job for a long period of time, without looking for a job over and over again, year after year again, even with breaks in between, well paid, and if production it's paid even (much) better than most other offers.

A small investment in time from the candidate can really change their life !!

Our add:

Bricklayers – also Apprentice / Trainees - for additional training:

VANACO BV located in Holland is looking for (apprentice) Masons to be trained on mastering the correct techniques, qualitative as well as productive, of the Netherlands and Belgium regarding bricklaying, more specific face bricks.

For that we offer you a training/schooling, will lasts between 1-10 weeks, depending on your previous experiences as well as your motivation.

During the training we also teach you Dutch language, so you can easily take on the job – after finishing the course – on Dutch and Belgium construction sites.

We also supply you a very usefull and obligated safety course.

While being trained you'll receive already € 150,- per week, after finishing you'll be employed (officially and in the Netherlands at Daxxa) as bricklayer according to Dutch / Belgium standards and wages, which for a start will be € 10,- per working hour nett, without any distractions whatsoever. If you really prove to be productive this salary will grow up to € 11,50 -€ 12,50 and even more (if production), so it's all about you.

Accommodation + work-accomodatoin-work transport will be set as well.

Simply saying, you will receive a professional training / schooling in several fields, which is paid for and meanwhile training you'll be paid, after finishing the course we'll offer you a steady job, where can you find such an offer ?

You'll learn:

- set profiles and dimensions
- placed prefab elements
- applying insulation
- making clean and dirt masonry
- bricklaying and gluing facing bricks, blocks and what else occurs
